Vincent has over twenty years of experience in the information governance field, having held various roles across the sector. Throughout his career, the DLM Forum has played a key role in providing standards, tools, and a platform for shared knowledge.

He brings deep insight into the diverse functions and organisational perspectives within information management. As a board member, Vincent aims to promote practical, innovative approaches – especially in areas such as AbD and sustainable accessibility. He is also keen to explore the evolving role of AI in archival practice and how it can both support and challenge our field.

Vincent supports using podcasts, e-learning, and tutorials to enhance outreach and training, and looks forward to working closely with initiatives like eArchiving and the European Archives Group.

Vincent Hoolt