

Presentations from the Oslo meeting 15-16 November 2016

Session I – How to treat information as an asset	Chair: Aleksandra Mrdavšič, Archives of the Republic of Slovenia
Is planning for creating and capturing records about achieving benefits or about avoiding risks?	Herbjørn Andresen, Oslo and Akershus University College
Can public sector afford not to use information as a strategic asset?	Pia Virmalainen Jøsendal, Agency for eGovernment
Influencing Business Managers: Highlighting the Value of Good Governance Over Long-Term Digital Information	Ann Keen, David Portman, Preservica Ltd
Session II – Information research and development	Chair: Hans Fredrik Berg, National Archives of Norway
New Approach on Digital Data Appraisal: Efficient Way of Interviewing Records Creators	Aleksandra Mrdavšič, Jože Škofljanec, Archives of the Republic of Slovenia
"Preserving citizens" review & update	Anssi Jääskeläinen, Mikkeli University of Applied Sciences
"Arkade" – A generic application for testing a variety of archival data sets for completeness and accuracy	Erik Gunnar Aaberg, National Archives of Norway
Session III – To make the knowledge transfer much more effective	Chair: David Anderson, University of Brighton
SAMDOK – a joint collaboration program for the overall archival landscape in Norway	Kari Frodesen, Project Coordinator, National Archives of Norway
Session IV – E-ARK – European Archives and Knowledge Preservation	Chair: Ann Keen, Preservica Ltd
Approaching the harbour. E-ARK project overview two month before the completion.	Janet Delve, Project Coordinator Kuldar Aas, Technical Coordinator
Revised Maturity Model for Information Governance	Ricardo Vieira, IST
Final version and visualization of the General Model and E-ARK pilots	István Alföldi, Poliphon Ltd.
Session V – Information management standards and references	Chair: Ricardo Vierira, IST
Two years of working with Common Specifications in Sweden, what has happened? Results, thoughts and standards.	Karin Bredenberg, National Archives of Sweden
An analysis model for RM and archives from capture to long term preservation	Hans Fredrik Berg, National Archives of Norway

